

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Nathan Myers. It has been brought to my attention that the FCC is considering providing LPFM priority over the translator services in my local area. My family and I are avid listeners and supporters of the Christian radio station, K-LOVE (105.5 FM). K-LOVE is a translator service that is being threatened by the consideration of the FCC's proposal.

As the father of small children, I have come to learn the value of the type of safe, family-friendly programming that K-LOVE provides for my children and the families and children in my community. It is becoming increasingly difficult to find a popular-music, radio station in my area that does not play upon suggestive content and create a wide range of uncomfortable family-listening moments throughout the day. Clean, safe popular music in and of itself has become hard enough to find without worrying about DJs who all too often allow for content which contains bleeps just long enough to appease the FCC guidelines, but short enough for a six-year-old to know what was actually being said. I am by no stretch of the imagination an individual with prudish values, but it is nice to have found a guaranteed safe-haven for listening to music in the presence of my friends and family.

K-LOVE is more than just a radio station, but a ministry as well, which has been publicly supported for the past 22 years as of last week. The fact that this radio ministry has been supported solely on listener contributions for 22 years is, in and of itself, a powerful indication of not only its positive influence, but also the crucial role it must play within local communities throughout the United States. Our society has changed immensely within the past 22 years and we have tossed aside many "unnecessary" things in the name of progress and changing values. But despite this, K-LOVE has not only been left standing, but has continued to grow because the services it provides are not outdated and unnecessary.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Nathan Myers
P.O. Box 13754
Mesa, Arizona 85216
480.241.2660